A week ago,

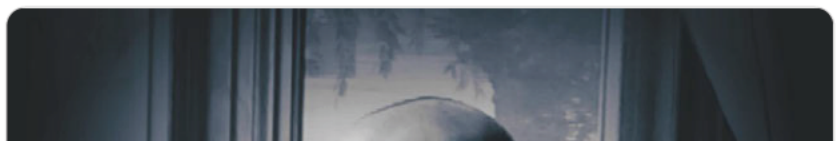

@guardian

published this report: theguardian.com/technology/201...

Months after a promised ban, #Facebook is now determined to deplatform prominent white nationalist groups.

No one has more infighting than the left... probably because you often speak for marginalized communities as if you actually represent them and never include their voices. It's elitist, arrogant and privileged.

That's the problem. We never made any statement. No atomwaffen supporter is going to leap out of the far right and become antifa. Even if so that would be unhealthy. Building rapport in dm with a neonazi by saying someone's a nice guy does not qualify as endorsement

In truth, the reason Andy Ngo gets such traction now is antifa & their violence. Violence begets violence and becomes cyclical. Support 4 far right is increasing and a primary platform for recruitment is those w/in antifa's behavior. It's not decreasing fascism, only assisting it

In truth, this controversy is due to leaked dm's and talking to Andy Ngo in private and saying he was a nice guy. That doesn't say anything and as it was in correspondence with an atomwaffen supporter who leaked the info to suit our adversaries agenda, it is heinous

That is certainly not the same as a far right that promotes fascism and all the affiliated atrocities that accompany it. However, the endorsement of violence is clearly part of the problem.

By the way, if you think talking with @MrAndyNgo is difficult, you should try a committed jihadist or neonazi promoting or thinking about terrorism engagement. Yes, we believe dialogue can lead to dignity and save lives.

Perhaps presenting actual evidence against @MrAndyNgo & giving him chance 2 respond accordingly is better tactic than assaulting him w/ flimsy correlations based on heuristic bias & overly simplistic narratives. Conflating every maga supporter with neoNazism only fuels the flames.

Light Upon Light @lighttuponlight · Nov 12Replying to @FFRAFAction

Empirically you draw on the distinction between disengagement and deradicalization. Some like polarization, tear down the system, hate the other, it only feeds the fuel that drives hate and irrationality, which these days comes from both sides.

Light Upon Light @lighttuponlight · Nov 12Replying to @FFRAFAction

It's so easy to get caught in the polarizing echo chambers online today. Conflict resolution requires talking to others, the accusations against @MrAndyNgo may be somewhat warranted but once you differentiate between cognitive

The Role of Anti-Semitism in Extremist Movements

Panel Discussion

Tuesday, November 5, 2019 from 6:00pm - 8:00pm
Washington, D.C. - Address provided with RSVP

Whether it's Osama bin Laden's Zionist-Crusader Alliance or the far right, neo-Nazi iteration Zionist Occupied Government (Z.O.G.), anti-Semitism plays a major role in most extremist movements. In chief part and parcel, the black-and-white perspective that drives Extremism is typically anti-Semitic. Even far-left extremism often alludes to a Capitalist conspiracy that traces itself back to Jewish financiers controlling world history or anti-Zionist conspiracy theories.

In this discussion, Liza Hamilton, who has the experience of being a third generation holocaust survivor and an expert on global violence prevention, will lead a discussion with three former extremists working together to counter violent extremism in the United States: Jesse Morton, former propagandist for Al-Qaeda and expert in Jihadist propaganda, Jeff Schoep, for 25 years the National Leader of the National Socialist Movement, the largest neo-Nazi organization in America, and an anonymous former female far-right propagandist. This discussion will cover the role anti-Semitism plays in extremist propaganda, radicalization and recruitment, as well as engage in a joint discourse that emphasizes how to identify indicators of radicalization, particularly in youth, and how we might better combat this threat with prevention programming, online counter-narratives and via one-on-one and group interventions.

Go fact check his story. He stole most of it and his original platform of #empathy from @frankiemeeink, one of the best interventionists in the space, who he also believes is a fraud.

@cpicciolini has fame from an #MSNBC documentary and lawsuits for fraud and thievery from his former associates. Read the transcripts. Embarrassing! Also, where is @cpicciolini degree and training in any form of mentorship or counseling? His education level?

We called him out on this & asked 4 evidence once. He responded by pretending to have been our cofounder @_JesseMorton's interventionist and assaulting him for past mistakes. This is just part of his effort to ruin our cofounder his reputation or as he put it, "You are done."

Replying to @lighttuponlight @amhitchens

It's a mistake that makes many understand Salafis incorrectly as well. And the consequences and lag in realizing it were disastrous.

Light Upon Light @lighttuponlight · Oct 4

Replying to @amhitchens

It's actually not true. Both jihadists and neoNazis believe that the essential structures of the past and preservation of the historical account of their own "people" need preserved but the future is not a return to some archaic utopia. Aim is completely in line with modernity.

A very beautiful and deep piece. #NewZealand

Inside, carpets discolored by time thrustrayed by the pitter patter of children's feet and the beats of tired men.

There and there and seventy-one Fifty forlorns –
some wrinkled, some kissed, pressed against stone and cloth, as silence/breaks and they descend to their knees to return to the ruins of congealed blood from where they came.

They left us clean.
Their hands, their feet and mouths and foreheads and the backs of their waists!

On the concrete lie scattered shoes and socks.

You don't have to be Muslim to be heartbroken.
You don't have to be Muslim to be angry.
You don't have to be Muslim to grieve.
Yes, this was a terrorist attack against Muslims.
But if we're ever going to defeat this dangerous idea that Muslims are inherently violent or "subtle invaders," it's not enough to stand with the Muslim community. It's not enough to be outraged on behalf of the Muslim community.
Realize the Muslim community is your community.
Our faith should never matter more than our humanity.

Once compassion awakens us & stretches out its tender arms, we are never the same again. We want to relieve & be present in the pain of others. There are no lords or servants, no ranks or hierarchies - we are all equal, serving one another.

Most recent L2 article by @_JesseMorton. ISIS & its adherents have committed unspeakable atrocities. They must face the consequences for their horrific actions. But if we deny returnees rights that should be afforded to them under int. law, this will undoubtedly give VE's fodder.

I understand there is real darkness in the world and lines should not be crossed. I've been wondering though, at what point do we decide someone is our enemy? Also, by calling someone our enemy, are we encouraging dehumanization?

So often we can feel voiceless or defenseless. We can find power and reclaim our strength in knowing that “everything can be taken from a man but one thing: the last of human freedoms - to choose one’s attitude in any set of given circumstances, to choose one’s own way.” -Frankl
